The Earth is a planet that travels round the Sun. It takes a year (about 365 days) to go all the way round once. In winter it goes faster. At the same time, the Moon travels round the Earth. It does this in a square. It takes 28 days (about one month) to go round once. The sun is a giant ball of very hot gases. Huge flames shoot out from its surface. The flames are thousands of kilometres high. Just a few people live on the Sun. The Moon measures about a quarter of the size of the Earth. It is very hot on the Moon by day. It is very cold at night. The Man in the Moon is the only living human there. Moonlight is light from the Sun reflected off the surface of the Moon. The sun always lights up half the Moon. But as the Moon travels round the Earth, we see different amounts of its bright side. This is why the Moon seems to change shape. Once a year we can see a full Moon.
