

The famous priest Rasputin became the favourite of the Russian royal family. Some people called him the Mad Monk. He was killed by a group of noblemen in 1916.

Rasputin was the son of Russian peasants. He presented himself as a holy man who could heal people. He impressed many people with his knowledge and ability to explain the Bible in an uncomplicated way. At the time St Petersburg was the capital of Russia. In 1905 he met there Tsarina Alexandra, and Tsar

Nicholas II. Their son, Alexei, suffered from haemophilia. This meant that if he cut himself, the bleeding would not stop. Because Rasputin was able to make Alexei feel calm, he became popular with Alexandra. The Tsarina saw Rasputin as a mystic, visionary, healer and prophet.

Tsar Nicholas II and his family

In 1914 Russia went to war with Germany. The following year, the Tsar left the court and took command of the Russian army. While he was away, Alexandra, under Rasputin's influence, dismissed government ministers, and replaced many of them with incompetent men. Rasputin and Alexandra were largely responsible for the tsar's failure to respond to the ever rising tide of discontent amongst the Russian people, which eventually led to the Russian Revolution (1917).
