What's got four legs and an arm?
A Rottweiler.

Doctor, Doctor, I think I need glasses.
You certainly do, sir. This is a flower shop.

VAMPIRE TO SON: You're late. We had guests for dinner. They were delicious!

What did the vampire doctor say to his patients?
Necks please.

delicious: köstlich
next please: der Nächste bitte neck: Hals

What did the vampire crawling through the desert say?
„Blood! Blood!"

When do ghosts usually appear?
Just before someone screams.

What does a sea-monster eat for dinner?
Fish and ships.

What do French people say after finishing British dinners?
Mercy.

Waiter! Waiter! This egg is bad.
Don't blame me, I only laid the table.

Doctor, Doctor, what's a good cure for snake bites?
Stop biting so many snakes.

Doctor, I feel as if I'm getting smaller.
You'll just have to be a little patient.

What do you call a dinosaur with a banana in each ear?
Anything you like. He can't hear you.

What did dinosaurs have that no other animals ever had?
Baby dinosaurs.

Why do Tyrannosaurus Rex like to eat snowmen?
They melt in their mouth.

What did the teddy bear say when he was offered dessert?
No thanks, I'm stuffed.

What do you call a crocodile at the North Pole?
Lost.

TEACHER: Henry! Were you copying Susan's sums?
HENRY: No! I was just seeing if she'd got mine right.

TEACHER: Henry! You missed school yesterday, didn't you?
HENRY: Not very much.

TEACHER: Henry, make up a sentence with the word „lettuce" in it.
HENRY: Let us out of school early.

TEACHER: Henry, I do wish you'd pay a little attention.
HENRY: Believe me, I'm paying as little as I can.

crawl: kriechen	cure: Heilmethode	sums: Rechnungen
desert: Wüste	patient: 1. Patient 2. geduldig	miss: verfehlen, vermissen blame: tadeln	melt: schmelzen	lettuce: Salat
lay, laid, laid: legen	dessert: Nachspeise	pay attention: Aufmerksam sein
fish and chips: Fisch mit Pommes	stuffed: ausgestopft, vollgefressen
mercy: Gnade	copy: abschreiben	