Barking dogs
An apple never falls
No pain,
Early bird
The best is the enemy
An apple a day
When the cat's away
Actions speak louder
Rome wasn't built
All's well

far from the tree.
no gain.
seldom bite.
in one day
the mice will play.
than words.
of the good.
catches the worm.
keeps the doctor away.
that ends well.

9.2. Wrong information about Novosibirsk: Fünf Informationen im Text sind falsch. Finde sie:

Novosibirsk, on the banks of the River Thames, is the largest Siberian city. Nowadays, it has one and a half million inhabitants. In 1895, when he went to his exile in Siberia, Lenin flew over the city. He wrote: „From the plane there's nothing to see but some huts and the naked steppe in snow...“ In 1908, thanks to the opening of the Trans-Siberian Railway, Novosibirsk had thirty thousand inhabitants. Most of them were immigrants from the USA. Now it is one of the world's biggest banking and business centres. Near to it is Pisa, the town with the famous Leaning Tower.
