

21.1. NEAR, NEAREST, NEXT –

Nicht verwechseln!

I asked the policeman where the... nearest post-office was.

"How come you were born in Yorkshire?" – "I wanted to be..... my mother."

Excuse me, where is the toilet? It's urgent.

Psychiatrist: Now what is your problem, sir? Man: I feel so unimportant, people don't even notice I am there. Psychiatrist:, please.

John was asked what his favourite drink was. "The one," he replied.

21.2. Correcting mistakes.

Schreib die Sätze richtig hin.

She asked me where am I going. She asked me where I was going......

We are living here since six years.

You will come, isn't it?

Why she looks at me like that?

I would have came if you asked me.

The mony was stole by a thief.

Where is the girl go?

21.3. Put the parts in the right order.

Korrekte Aussagesätze bilden.

school / left / two years ago / Jesse /

...Jesse left school two years ago. (Two years ago, Jesse left school.)

cold / is / there / blowing / wind

.....

at the bar / yesterday / I didn't / Charlie / meet

.....

so / it was / go out / we couldn't /

.....

before midnight / order / you must / your next drink

.....

ILL. "NIGHTHAWKS", BY EDWARD HOPPER

Die Zeitangabe

(yesterday, two years ago, before midnight) kommt im Englischen an den Satzschluss (oder an die Satzspitze):

I met Charly at the bar yesterday. Yesterday I met Charly at the bar.