Our grandfathers and grandmothers, those born before 1940, are wondering how they got along and they say:

We were born before television, before penicillin, polio shots, frozen foods, Xerox, contact lenses, videos and DVD, before radar, credit cards, split atoms, laser beams, ballpoint pens and felt pens, before dish washers, tumble driers, air conditioners ... and before man walked on the moon.

There was no pill after and we got married first and then lived together. We thought Big Mac was an oversized raincoat. We existed before house husbands and computer dating, we didn't use any seat belts for our safety.

We were before day care centres, group homes and disposable nappies. We never heard of FM radio, tape decks, compact or floppy discs, word processors, SMS, international roaming or young men wearing earrings. For us, time sharing meant togetherness, a chip was a piece of wood or fried potato, hardware meant nuts and bolts and software wasn't a word.

Before 1940 made in Japan meant junk, going all the way was staying on a double-decker bus to the terminus. In our days, cigarette smoking was fashionable, grass was mown, coke was kept in the coalhouse, a joint was a piece of meat you ate on Sundays and pot was something you cooked in. Rock Music was a mother's lullaby, Eldorado was an ice-cream, a gay person was the life and soul of the party, while aids just meant beauty treatment or help for someone in trouble.

We who were born before 1940, we senior citizens, we must be a hardy bunch when you think of the way in which the world has changed, has globalized. Imagine the thousands of adjustments we have had to make. No wonder there is a generation gap today, but we have survived!
